Jennifer Marshall (UK, University of Derby):

Comparative Education: A field Under Siege?
This presentation will look at the field of Comparative Education in light of recent trends surrounding globalisation. What place does Comparative Education have in the 21st century? To address this question the talk will explore two key themes in Comparative and International Education:
What is the role of Comparative Education in policy formation?
As a result of globalisation, is there a trend towards the homogenisation of education world-wide?
